

Save the Date!

2010 Emerging Co-op Leaders Program May 3 - 6, 2010 | Washington, DC

The Emerging Co-op Leaders program is a unique opportunity to meet with leaders from all parts of the cooperative movement to learn more about the breadth and depth of cooperatives and cooperation. Participants will be drawn from all sectors, ranging from agricultural and housing co-ops to consumer co-ops and credit unions. They will include employees and board members of all ages and interests. Whether employees, directors, members, managers or students, attendees will grow their understanding of the history, challenges, trends and opportunities in today's cooperative movement.

EMERGING LEADERS WILL:

- Take an in-depth look at cross-sector cooperative principles and practices, including marketing, financing, and legislative issues
- Participate in the annual conference and annual meeting of the National Cooperative Business Association (NCBA)
- Celebrate this year's inductees to the National Cooperative Hall of Fame
- Attend the annual meeting of the National Cooperative Bank (NCB)
- Learn about the International Cooperative Alliance and cooperatives worldwide
- Tour local cooperatives

www.nasco.coop/leaders

Please visit www.nasco.coop/leaders or email info@nasco.coop for information about location, scholarships, cost, application, and more.

This program is hosted by the North American Students of Cooperation in conjunction with the National Cooperative Business Association annual conference.

