Unpacking Violence: Liberation Within Chaos
Workbook and glossary, presented by D.O.P.E. Collective - dopewny.org

Trauma and Effects

- Trauma is universal! Regardless...
  - Age
  - Race and ethnicity
  - Gender and sex
  - Class
- ...determined by physically or psychologically stressful events. Resilience differs from person to person
- Complex Trauma - exposure to multiple traumatic events which are usually prolonged, invasive and personal
- Cortisol - the primary stress hormone, increases sugars (glucose) in the bloodstream, enhances your brain's use of glucose and increases the availability of substances that repair tissues.

Trauma Informed Care Principles:

- Safety
- Collaboration
- Choice
- Trust
- Empowerment

Generational and Historical Trauma

- Descendants from traumatized peoples have higher levels of cortisol
  - Katrina, 9/11, Syrian War, Israeli and Palestinian War(s), the Holocaust, Chattel Slavery, colonialism, etc.
- PTSD is more likely to be passed through the mother via high levels of cortisol in the placenta
- Risks:
  - PTSD: a mental health condition triggered by experiencing or seeing a terrifying event.
  - anxiety and depression
  - behavior
  - obesity
  - hypertension
  - insulin resistance
- Systematic violence retraumatize communities and traumatized peoples can continue, even subconsciously, violent behaviors.
  - Ex: LAPD would report cases involving black people and/or sex workers by using the term “N.H.I.” meaning “No Human Involved.”

Post Traumatic Slave Syndrome (PTSS)
Adaptive behavior - conceptual, social, and practical skills that all people learn in order to function in their daily lives; including but not limited to literacy; self-direction; and the concept of numbers, money, and time. Skills for daily navigation.
  - Paranoia of: police, healthcare systems and social workers
  - Parenting / Interpersonal relations
    - Emotional neglect, lack of self-determination and abundant criticism
    - Dr. DeGury conducted a study with 200 young black men within the same neighborhood (half have been incarcerated, the other have not) and found that the most significant predictor of violence was NOT witnessing violence, but was the lack of respect.

Learned Helplessness - the feeling of loss of control or autonomy in one’s life.
  - Belief in not achieving adulthood or short life expectancy
  - High levels of depression
  - Loss of hope

Internalized Oppression - oppressed group that believes and acts out the stereotypes created about their group.
  - Colorism
  - Intellectualism is closer to whiteness
  - Self-hate

Horizontal Oppression - oppression that occurs within a specific group by some members towards people who lack the same or similar privileges.
  - Anti-blackness and respectability politics (policing behaviors and values of others to align with the mainstream i.e. colonial values) in the black community
  - Other examples: Femmepiphobia among LGBTQ+ and binary trans people oppressing non-binary trans people

Tools for Maintaining Gender Oppression: Denial, Minimizing, Victim-Blaming, Counter-Organizing Patriarchy upholds and supports gender oppression. 4 primary tools for maintaining gender oppression and for avoiding accountability are: 1) Denial; 2) Minimizing; 3) Victim-Blaming; and 4) Counter-Organizing.

1. Denial - Our progressive, radical, revolutionary people of color as individuals, organizations and movement (just as the rest of the world) have been pretty good at denying that gender oppression exists.

What can denial look like?:

- Silence Inability to take any action
- Putting issues, acts, or patterns of gender oppression on the back burner (forever)
- Viewing issues, acts, or patterns of gender oppression as individual, personal, private rather than acts of gender oppression requiring public and collective responsibility and solutions
- Writing off sexual harassment or sexual assault as a date, affection, showing that he likes you, flirting, misunderstandings, etc.
- Viewing any issue of gender oppression (which requires more than abstract talk) as bourgeois, middle class, white feminist dividing our movement, playing into the hands of the race/class/nation enemy
2. Minimizing - Our progressive, radical, revolutionary people of color as individuals, organizations and movements (just as the rest of the world) have been pretty good at minimizing gender oppression as an issue or minimizing situations/acts/patterns of gender oppression.

What can minimizing look like?

- Putting issues, acts, or patterns of gender oppression on the back burner (forever)
- Viewing issues, acts, or patterns of gender oppression as individual, personal, private rather than acts of gender oppression requiring public and collective responsibility and solutions
- Writing issues, acts, or patterns of gender oppression off as a misunderstanding
- Writing sexual harassment or assault off as dating, asking someone out
- Writing domestic or intimate partner violence off as fighting, an argument, they have problems, they both have problems, she should just leave him (or her)
- Viewing any issue of gender oppression (which requires more than abstract talk) as taking away from the real and/or important work
- Hoping that it goes away or the people raising or causing the issues go away
- Addressing it very ineffectually (and knowing it)

3. Victim-Blaming - Our progressive, radical, revolutionary people of color as individuals, organizations and movements (just as the rest of the world) have been pretty good at blaming the victim or others who call for accountability when gender oppression as an issue or a situation of gender oppression arises. This blaming the victim or allies is often combined with denial and minimizing.

What can victim-blaming look like?

- Calling the people (usually women) raising the issue of gender abuse, oppression or violence bourgeois, middle class white feminist, dividing the movement, destroying unity, lynching, taking us away from the ireal or iserious\ work, a race/class/nation enemy
- Blaming women/girls who raise the issue of gender oppression, abuse or violence as deserving it, I a flirt, young, wants attention, must have done something wrong, a slut, man-hater, a lesbian/dyke, making a power play
- Blaming women/girls who take a stand against gender oppression as bitches, controlling, angry, man-haters, lesbians/dykes, white feminists
- Turning abusers into victims by naming people (usually men) accused of sexist, abusive, or violent attitudes and behavior as (v)ictims, I nice guys, I heroes, I important to our work (more important than the women/girls raising the issue or victim to abuse) I

4. Counter-Organizing - Our progressive, radical, revolutionary people of color as individuals, organizations and movements (just as the rest of the world) have been pretty good at using the skills and tactics better used for fighting real enemies against people (usually women/girls/female-identified) who raise the issue of gender oppression, abuse or violence or a situation of gender oppression, abuse or violence.

Basically, this means that our own people (mostly men/boys/male-identified but also women/girls/female-identified) have been good at counter-organizing. And counter-organizing can involve a higher level of the devaluation, deceit, and manipulation which are all also a part of the dynamics of gender oppression and avoidance of accountability.
What can counter-organizing look like?

- Harassing, demeaning, denouncing, gossiping about, spreading rumors and lies about or threatening to do these things to women who raise the issue of gender oppression either as survivors/victims or as allies
- Demoting, firing or threatening to demote or fire women who raise the issue of gender oppression either as survivors/victims or as allies
- Isolating or discrediting persons who raise concerns and/or call for accountability
- Questioning the legitimacy of concerns to detract from the need to be accountable
- Questioning the legitimacy of the accountability process to detract from the need to be accountable
- Accusing others of abuse in order to call attention away from own accountability
- Denying, minimizing, victim blaming, and plain-old lying about doing any of these things when called on it communities; Trans communities oppressing non-binary trans people
Cognitive Dissonance

-OR- Oversimplifying: ignoring, dismissing, erasure

Two Wrongs Don’t Make a Right
Combating violence and organizing

Phases of Decolonizing,

1. Recovery - reconnecting with one’s history, culture and people. Ex: returning to one’s community, re-establishing family relations, re-learning culture (art, language, songs, ceremonies, hunting, fishing, dancing, etc.)

2. Mourning - a time when a people are able to lament their victimization which can be expressed through deep sadness and anger. “The abuse of the mourning phase can continue in mourning, anger, hate and the division of people; getting stuck in victimhood.

3. Dreaming/Reconstruction - THE MOST CRUCIAL; restructuring involves reassessment of existing institutional power structures and expanding our worldviews and shifting our paradigms to make a better world for all nations. Those who ridicule the dreaming phase usually have short-sighted goals which measured by material gains.

4. Commitment - committing to your dreams and making the decision to make them reality; combined voices and clear direction.

5. Action - MUST be done after commitment to be the true will/decision of the people; political/social change.
